RE: Lycoming Law Association Web Page

The Lycoming Law Association Web page continues to grow and improve.

1. In 2003, over 300 opinions were added to the database. The database now contains 1,271 opinion summaries and the full text of 1200 opinions. Additional search features were added allowing a search of the text of the opinions.

2. A more comprehensive calendar of events was added. Members have the ability to submit events using the online form.

3. The history page was improved. The Association continues to document its history, and the history of the local courts, on the Web page. Pages are maintained with photographs and narratives concerning major events during the year, such as the commemoration of our 50 year members and Judge Smith's retirement banquet.

4. The member directory is continually updated. It contains the most comprehensive and up-to-date address, telephone number and email address information of members.

Usage of the website continues to increase. In the first seven days of January, the Web site saw 5,400 hits. The most commonly used feature of the Web site is the opinion database. That is followed by the attorney directory and the rules.
